

Hello Shrewley and beyond, we are sorry it has been so long since we last spoke – we hope all of you are well and have found ways to adapt to a new normal.

Of course, we would love to be telling you we will be open soon but as it stands, we do not have any dates to work towards as we are awaiting government advise.

But we did want to stop and take a minute to say a massive thank you to all our NHS / Key Worker friends out there working hard during these unprecedented times.

And of course, a Happy 100th Birthday to Captain Tom! We will raise a glass to you all as soon as we can - hopefully in the gardens if the recent hints of Summer are a sign of things to come!

To keep investing in our wonderful team a range of industry-specific courses has been made available to them during their furloughed time, we cannot wait to have them back in action

Please rest assured we want to be serving beautiful Sunday roasts and pouring the perfect pint of ale for you, but we'll only be open once full government policies have been made as the health and safety of our team and our guests is our number one priority.

The support shown to us has not gone unnoticed and the solidarity, charity and love we have seen in our community have been one to be proud of.

We hope to have some news soon to share with you, but for now stay safe, take care and we will see you soon.

With love from us all at The Durham Ox
